Films in Competition 1

An Ecstatic Experience

Ja'Tovia Gary

Brooklyn, NY | 2015 | 6 min | digital file

An invocation and a meditation on transcendence as a means of restoration and resistance. – JG

The Perpetual Motion of My Love For You

Karen Yasinsky

Baltimore, MD | 2016 | 8 min | digital file

WORLD PREMIERE A collage film slipping between narrative starts of images and sounds: May Sarton's snapshots, a resplendent Liz Taylor, internal and external awkwardnesses, a short respite of peace and a dogged, deeply sad positivism. If this movie was a person it would be the awkward girl, but she will never gain grace and confidence in her intelligence when older. She will forever remain in 8th grade with her frustrations and ambiguities. – KY

The Mess

Peter Burr

Brooklyn, NY | 2015 | 14 min | digital file

In this game-like computer animation we take a journey to the threshold of a utopian labyrinth. Following the perspective of a solitary female figure whose job is to clean up the mess it inadvertently spawned, we end up in a seemingly endless hall of mirrors. – PB

Dingbat's Revenge

Scott Fitzpatrick

Winnipeg, Canada | 2015 | 7 min | 16mm

US PREMIERE Can an experimental animator follow contemporary Hollywood logic? New ideas are out of fashion; everything's a trilogy. Laser-printed onto recycled 16mm film in 2015, Dingbat's Revenge is a coded, stroboscopic manifesto pitched somewhere between abstraction and representation. – SF

Vague Images at the Beginning and End of the Day

Carl Elsaesser

Iowa City, IA | 2016 | 8 min | digital file

WORLD PREMIERE A sketch book of images and sounds from the year wrapped around a trip out to Loomis, South Dakota to find the abandoned farm where my Grandfather grew up. A hug/punch eulogy for all things impossible now. – CE

Rock Roll

Josh Guilford

Holyoke, MA | 2015 | 3 min | 16mm

A camera roll film shot on Rabbit Island, an islet in Lake Superior three miles east of Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula. Mapping the surface of a rock at the island's northwest edge, a single expanse of sandstone that dates back over 900 million years. Thinking about geologic time and the slow action of sedimentation and compaction. Shooting in short bursts so that images might accumulate like falling waves. – JG

Iron Condor

Meredith Lackey

Los Angeles, CA | 2015 | 10 min | 16mm

Iron Condor presents the sensible evidence of the Chicago Futures and Options Exchange from grain to data. The film takes its name from an option trading strategy whose profit/loss graph resembles a large bird. Static objects contend with a virtual atmosphere that renders the physical obsolescent. – ML

Pixel Jungle

Klara Ravat

Berlin, Germany | 2015 | 3 min | 16mm

Two enlarged 35mm pictures are used to recreate the olfactory sensations of Barcelona. The pixel patterns are a graphical representation of the city night and the orange courtyard in the district of Raval. Each scented frame is printed on transparent labels, and glued on clear 16mm leader. – KR

KCBT - Khoan Cát Bê Tông Concrete Cutting and Drilling

Lauren Cook

Holyoke, MA | 2015 | 5 min | digital file

US PREMIERE KCBT explores the shifting urban landscape and rapid economic growth of Hanoi, Vietnam through stenciled demolition ads that both visibly mark the entire city and internally mark its residents. – LC

Traces/Legacy

Scott Stark

Austin, TX | 2015 | 9 min | 35mm

Traces/Legacy uses a device called a film recorder to print a series of digital still images onto 35mm film. Discarded Christmas trees, colorfully arranged flea market finds, a museum of animal kills, microscopic views of kitchenware, and other overlooked cultural artifacts are interwoven with flickering journeys through mysterious, shadowy realms. –SS
